MASON PARK MEDICAL CLINIC AND LUXE MEDICAL AESTHETICS OFFER EXCITING NEW THERAPIES

REGENERATIVE TREATMENTS ASSIST TISSUE REPAIR WITHOUT SURGERY

What started as a private practice in 1996 has now become a highly regarded, all-inclusive clinic and medical spa led by board-certified, family-medicine physician, Dr. Quyen Trinh. Mason Park Medical Clinic (MPMC) has been a leader in Katy's medical excellence and technology for the past 26 years. From primary to acute and chronic care, regenerative medicine, physical therapy, allergy, nutrition services, and medical aesthetic services, Dr. Trinh and his staff have your needs covered in one convenient location.

Dr. Trinh was a practicing physician and partner at Kelsey-Seybold Clinic in Houston prior to taking over as managing physician at MPMC for his late sister, Dr. Trang Trinh, in 2019.

"I take great appreciation in honoring her legacy and serving the Katy community," he says. His medical approach focuses more on holistic methodology, evaluating the whole body rather than treating the symptoms. "We strive to get to the root cause of pain and illness," he says. "My patients and I work together as a team, treating and alleviating health problems for an improved quality of life."

LUXE MEDICAL AESTHETICS FEATURES REVOLUTIONARY TREATMENTS

Dr. Trinh's wife, Angela, is MPMC's director. For the past year, she's been designing their plush medical spa, LUXE Medical Aesthetics, to offer and deliver the best aesthetic solutions custom-tailored to each client. Skin and hair rejuvenation including advanced laser treatments radiofrequency microneedling, regenerative treatments with PRP (platelet-rich plasma) and amnio fluid, a full range of injectables, IV hydration and nutrition therapy, medical-grade chemical peels, PDO thread lifts, and therapeutic massages are a sampling of services offered.

"We're very excited about the addition of regenerative medicine to our menu," she says. "Now everything is located onsite for our patients' convenience, focusing on total health and wellness for the entire family."

REGENERATIVE THERAPY FOR SELF-HEALING

The body has a remarkable way of healing itself when hurt or injured, but as we age, it can become harder for the body to recover naturally from chronic illnesses or medical conditions. Bio-scientists and researchers have used technological advances to find innovative ways to help the body heal itself. Regenerative medicine emerged as a viable resource to support the body's self-healing. Regenerative therapy and treatments assist in repairing and replacing damaged tissues when the body is unable to perform this task on its own. It focuses on reigniting the body's natural healing power to repair or reproduce tissues and organs damaged by diseases, injuries, or aging. It aims to restore normal function within the body rather than simply managing pain or illness.

REGENERATIVE THERAPIES OFFERED AT MPMC AND LUXE MEDICAL AESTHETICS

Amniotic fluid treatments rich in growth factors and cytokines help manage numerous conditions from osteoarthritis to degenerative disc disease, certain lung diseases including asthma or COPD. PRP treatments for hair and skin rejuvenation, and KeraLase (laser treatment with KeraFactor growth serum) hair rejuvenation treatments are also offered, as well as IV hydration therapy loaded with vitamins, minerals, and amino acids for maintaining maximum body function. These are minimally invasive, non-surgical procedures and treatments which can be performed in as little as 30 minutes.

Dr. Trinh graduated from the University of Houston with degrees in biology and chemistry. He earned his Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine from the University of Medicine and Biosciences in Kansas City, Missouri, and completed his residency program at the University of Texas Medical Center, Houston.

Telehealth and office appointments are available. Dr. Trinh welcomes new patients and encourages them to visit the website or call the office for more detailed information on services and treatments.
